Dear Parishioner,

Sr Jennifer's new mobile number:
07909442305

I was really sorry that I was unable to conduct the funeral of Noel Walley. He was a fine Christian man, a convert from Anglicanism who kept his love for the faith of his upbringing, but who delighted in his new found Catholicism and who lived out his Faith with joy. It was he who constructed our website as well as that of the Llandudno Cytun. In this, as in so many other ways, he served our parish well and faithfully. We extend our deepest sympathies to Joan and will be celebrating his "month mind" Mass on Wednesday, 14 October.

Mike Townsend has kindly agreed to take over this role as Parish Webmaster, and we are very grateful to him indeed.

May I remind you again that the Catechumenate talks are now on the website. The easiest way to access the website is to google "Llandudno Catholic Church" and it will come up first. At the very top of the page are various links, including the link to the "Catechumenate Talks". This site is updated every week, so you can keep abreast with all that is going on. These files are audio files, so you just listen as you would were you there. It would be an ideal way for you to update your understanding of the Faith, and I very much encourage you to do so.

Today, at all the Masses, our newly formed Mission Team will introduce themselves and speak to us about how they see their role in the Parish. Their purpose is to break down some of those imaginary barriers that keep people away from the Church; and to make their entry into the Church an even easier exercise than it already is. By holding informal meetings with people who are interested in Catholicism, they will make them feel at ease with us and our wonderful Church and thus help prepare them for the Catechumenate. Please read carefully the "flier" you receive at the end of Mass and, please, take its proposals very seriously.

May I remind you again of the Holy Hour we now hold before the Blessed Sacrament every Wednesday evening between eight and nine? It is our parish effort for the Year of the Priest, and special prayers are said at it for the priests of the world. It is a wonderfully peaceful and inspiring end to the day, and you would enjoy it

It is time again for us to restart our Catechism Classes for the pupils of Years 7 and 8. These lessons will begin again after half-term and are at 4pm at Stella Maris: Monday, Year 7; Tuesday, Year 8. I am very grateful to Margaret Hunt, Dorothy Oakes and Fleur Williams for giving generously of their time to make this happen. God bless you, Fr AJ
